While civic officials denied this claim, councillor Bhagyalakshmi Murali told The Hindu that she was not apprised by the BBMP of the "development work" that

According to members of the Hulimavu Kere Tharanga, the new exit - where the bund was damaged - should not have been touched. The new exit was first opened in March this year for lake rejuvenation work. "However, it was packed and closed after funds were diverted for flood relief in north Karnataka. On Sunday morning, some earthmover damaged the bund under the pretext

The police have taken up a case against a contractor identified as Venkatesh, who was carrying out rejuvenation work which led to the breach. "As per the complaint received from the BBMP, he made a wrong assessment while carrying out the work, which led to the breach. No arrests have been made so far," said a senior police officer.

sure that residents were evacuated safely," Mr. Kumar said. As daylight waned, teams operated with the help of emergency lights, but the situation was brought under control by late evening.

Many roads in and around the area were flooded and Hulimavu traffic police were deployed to divert motorists to other areas. "Traffic movement on Sir M.V. Road in Hulimavu was badly affected and traffic movement came to a halt," said a senior police officer.
